MEASUREMENT DEVICES

In response to Senate Bill 88 and various legislative efforts standardizing the measurement of irrigators water use and reporting standards, the Honey Lake Valley RCD has installed five water level transducers manufactured by ONSET.

These devices are low cost, research-grade water level data loggers that continuously measure water level and temperature in a wide range of underwater environments. These devices paired with ONSET's software provides CFS measurements for reporting purposes.

The RCD intends to implement additional devices every winter!

NORTH-STATE WATERMASTER PROGRAMS

The Honey Lake Valley RCD facilitated the region's first Conference of North-State Watermaster Programs. This conference brought together Watermasters, Board Members, and Administrative staff from various non-DWR Watermaster Service Areas in Northern California.

Diamond Mountain North Watershed Area Planning Project

Lassen Land and Trails Trust has partnered with Point Blue Conservation Science and the Natural Resources Conservation Service to develop the Diamond Mountain North Watershed Area Planning Project. This project, with potential funding from the Wildlife Conservation Board's Climate Adaptation and Resiliency Program, is intended to conserve and restore natural and working lands for the benefit of climate adaptation and resilience for wildlife, increase carbon sequestration in natural and working lands, and provide additional social, economic, and environmental benefits.

The north watershed of Diamond Mountain was identified as the project area because it already contains lands protected from development, including several conservation easements and state and federal lands, has been prioritized for conservation by CA Department of Fish and Wildlife in a Conceptual Area Protection Plan, connects lands of various habitat types for wildlife, and has relatively intact habitat which is threatened by exurban development from the Susanville area.

The overall goal of this planning effort is to engage the local community in conserving and enhancing the natural resources and agricultural values of the project area. Specific outcomes of this planning grant include prioritization, with community and partner input, of agricultural land easement properties and meadow restoration projects within the Diamond Mountain North Watershed Area Planning project, with the highest priority conservation easement project and meadow restoration project to be developed into fully planned projects ready for implementation.

Agricultural land easements allow for agricultural activities to continue with restrictions on development and intensification of agricultural practices. This allows the land to continue to be in open space for wildlife, natural beauty, and carbon storage benefits, while making it available for agricultural production. Meadow restoration projects in general reconnect streams with their flood plain, allowing for increased forage production, wildlife habitat, and carbon sequestration.

The Diamond Mountain North Watershed Area Planning Project will build upon existing efforts in the area by bringing together private and public partners and private landowners in order to protect and enhance the habitat value of these lands while increasing the resiliency of this landscape to a changing climate.

Please contact Amy Holmen, Project Manager, at land@lassenlandandtrailstrust.org for more information.

RE: North Diamond Mountain Planning Project

On behalf of the Honey Lake Valley Resource Conservation District, I would like to express our strong support of Lassen Land and Trails Trust (LLTT) and Point Blue Conservation Science (PBCS) in their effort to obtain funding through the WCB's Climate Adaptation & Resiliency Program. As our partners, the LLTT and PBCS will benefit from being able to work with landowners and partners to promote and enhance critical working lands within and surrounding the Bass Hill Conceptual Area Protection Plan (CAPP), which will assist landowners in adapting to a changing climate, while increasing the resiliency of these agricultural systems and wildlife habitats.

The Honey Lake Valley Resource Conservation District supports the overall goal of this planning effort: engaging the local community in conserving and enhancing the natural resources and agricultural values of the project area. I also support the effort to prioritize agricultural land easement properties and meadow restoration projects within the Diamond Mountain North Watershed Area Planning project, with the highest priority conservation easement project and meadow restoration project being developed into fully planned projects ready for implementation.

As a partner with LLTT & PBCS on this project, the Honey Lake Valley Resource Conservation District is prepared to support the planning effort through participation in meetings and reviewing planning documents. Our shared priorities and concern for quality habitat for wildlife, as well as conserving the agricultural heritage of the region, fit well within the Climate Adaptation & Resiliency Program's goals of conserving and restoring natural and working lands for the benefit of climate adaptation and resilience for wildlife.

Please feel free to contact me for any additional information. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Jesse Claypool
